SOLOMON, FELDMAN SAYS

"The Poor Man's Lawyer" Gets Client Off by Telling Tale of Thousandth Wife.

Troubled by the consciousness that the jury was prejudiced against his client, a Scotchman, on trial before Judge Delehanty in General Sessions, for stabbing a colored woman with whom he lived, Attorney Samuel Feldman, "the poor man's lawyer," won fame and victory to-day by fitting history in his own peculiar way. "Do not blame my client," Feldman told the jury, "because he lived with a negroress." The wisest man in the world, King Solomon, who built the $30,000,000 temple in Jerusalem, made a colored woman, the Queen of Sheba, his thousandth wife. He invited her to his magnificent temple. The entrance was so brilliant that the floor looked like water, and when the dusky Queen approached she lifted her skirt above her shoe tops. Then King Solomon married her. That's the answer, gentlemen." That's the jury acquitted Feldman's client.

Chaufer Obstructed Broadway to Take Picture.

Arraigned before Magistrate Corrigan in the Centre Street Police Court to-day for obstructing traffic at Park Place and Broadway, Harry E. Richner, a chaufer for a film concern, said he had to stop in the middle of Broadway so that the picture crew in a car could take a photograph of the sun setting behind the Woolworth Building. "Couldn't you have taken it from the curbside on the City Hall Park side?" Magistrate Corrigan asked.

Emperor Sees "Freedom of the Seas" as Result of the Naval Engagement.

BERLIN, June 7.—The Kaiser at Wilhelmshaven to-day addressed the sailors of his North Sea fleet as follows:

"Whenever in past years I visited my fleet at Wilhelmshaven I always rejoiced from the depths of my heart at the sight of the growing fleet and the growing harbor. I looked with satisfaction upon the young crews drawn up in the drill shed ready to take the oath. Many thousands of you I have seen eye to eye with your superior War Lord when taking the oath. He reminded you of your duty, your task, but, above all, of the fact that when the German fleet went to war it would have to fight against gigantic superiority."

"This consciousness has become a tradition with the fleet, as it has been with the army from the time of Frederick the Great. Prussia, as well as Germany, has always been surrounded by superior enemies. Therefore it was possible to forge our nation into one mass, which hoarded up in itself endless forces ready to let loose when necessity demanded."

"When the great war came envious enemies suddenly attacked the fatherland. The army, by desperate fighting against superior foes, slowly conquered them one after another. But the fleet waited in vain for a real fight. In numerous individual encounters the navy clearly demonstrated its heroic spirit, but was forced to wait month after month for a general battle."

"Repeated efforts were made to bring the enemy out, but they proved fruitless until the day finally came last week when the gigantic fleet of Alfonso, ruler of the seas since Trafalgar, was fought one hundred years ago, appeared in the open surrounded with a nimbus. Instantly our fleet engaged this superior British armada, and with what result? The English fleet was beaten. The first big blow was dealt the English fleet, whose tyrranical supremacy was shattered."

"The news electrified the world and caused unprecedent jubilation everywhere that German hearts beat. Your success in the North Sea fight means that you have added a new chapter to the history of the world. God Almighty steeled your arm and gave you clear eyes to accomplish this."

"I, standing here to-day as your supreme War Lord, thank you from the bottom of my heart. As the representative of the fatherland, I thank you, and in the name of my army I bring you its greetings because you have done your duty unselishly and only with the one thought that the enemy must be beaten."

"At a time when the enemy is slowly being crushed before Verdun, and when our allies have driven the Italians from mountain to mountain you add new glories to our cause. The world was prepared for everything, but not for the victory of the German fleet over the English. The start which you have made will cause fear to creep into the bones of the enemy. What you have done did for the fatherland, that in the future it may have freedom of the seas for its commerce. Therefore I ask you to join me in three cheers for our dearly beloved fatherland."

TASTE IMPROVING.

(From the Chicago News.) "My taste in music is improving," said Mr. Curtron. "How do you know?" inquired his wife, naughtily. "I can tell when I can enjoy the music of a hand organ whether it has a monkey with it or not."

The City of New York in future will charge you $5 a letter for carving your name on park trees, $2 for the privilege of leaving newspapers on park benches and in the grass and $5 for leaving empty beer bottles. This new schedule of prices was set to-day by Magistrate Appleton in the Municipal Term Court.

Aseour Leylekin, twenty-five, of No. 1696 Clark Avenue, Bronx, had just finished a period after his trials on a tree in Chancery Park when he was arrested by Magistrate Appleton who gave him the choice of $10 fine or five days in the Tombs. He chose the latter.

In sentencing Leylekin the Magistrate said:

"I suppose you thought that some day you'd be famous and that pilgrims would come from all over the world to see your handiwork. However, public trees are not niches in the hall of fame."
